Lines. They are everywhere around us. They are such a part of our lives that we hardly notice them anymore unless we are delayed by one. Lines have sunk into the background. Yet lines add order and beauty to our lives. They add security and a sense of camaraderie by being a part of one, by having a place to fit in. By standing in a line we become one of a crowd. We are known by the line we stand in and the leader we follow.

Jim Deckinger, Career Specialist and baseball coach, attended Independence Junior College and received his Associate of Arts Degree before going to Emporia State University for his Bachelor's Degree in Business and Health. He continued his education at Wichita State University, where he earned his Master's Degree in Health and Physical Education and Recreation. Deckinger is about 90 hours above a master's in Guidance Administration.

Deckinger and his wife, Marilyn, have four children: Jalaine, 17; Lance, 14; Clayton, 13; and Aaron, 10.

"My life is circled mostly around the kids," said Deckinger. "We're always going here or there for their activities."

Some of the activities Deckinger is involved in are Kiwanis, bowling, racquetball, tennis, and golf.

Deckinger has taught at Southeast 19 years. "I started out in business and then went to Driver's Ed. and then to occupational specialist," said Deckinger.

Bill Troyer, custodian, is a very busy person. While holding down two jobs, one at Southeast and the other at Dillards as a custodian, he still finds time for his family and hobbies.

Troyer and his wife of 26 years, Marcelyn, have two children: Mark, 17, and Matt, 15.

Troyer enjoys hunting, training dogs, and golfing. "I golf just about anywhere," he said.

Troyer was born in Harper, Ks. He graduated from Harper High School in 1948, then enlisted in the Army during the Korean War.

"All my friends were going." he said. Troyer stayed in the States and played the trombone in the Army Band. "We played for retired generals and all sorts of festivals in Arkansas," he said.

Troyer graduated from Kansas University with a minor in Interior Design and a major in History of Art. During his junior year he was elected President of the Acacia Fraternity.

Troyer has been at Southeast for two years.

Ben Klenda, math teacher, was born in Hillsboro. He attended high school at Benad Academy in the Chicago area. He attended Illinois Benedictine College and received a degree in mathematics. Klenda taught one year at Benad Academy. He then taught four years at Bishop Carroll High School. During the summers of 1967 and 1968 he attended the University of Wyoming on a National Science Foundation (NSF) grant. Klenda then attended Western Washington State College in Bellingham, Wash., to receive his Master's of Science in Mathematics. He then returned to Carroll, where he taught four more years before coming to Southeast.

Klenda and his wife, Mary Lou, have three children: Kristine, 15; Sean, 12; and Kameron, 5.

Klenda enjoys hunting, fishing, and baseball.

"I have coached little league baseball for the past four years and we won the National Baseball Congress (NBC) State Championship as 10 and 12 year olds. Jim Deckinger, (SE baseball coach), has been of great assistance to me because I sought his advice many times for the proper technique and correct strategy of the game," said Klenda.

This is Klenda's seventh year at SE.

Mark Templin science teacher, was born in Wichita and raised in Derby. He attended Friends University, where he majored in biology and minored in physical education.

During high school Templin was involved in football, baseball, basketball, letterclub, and Fellowship of Christian Athletes (F.C.A.). He played football under former Southeast Coaches Cavalier and Davie at Derby.

Along with teaching, Templin is assistant varsity football coach and coaches offensive backs. He also helps in the weight lifting program. He comes to school at 6 a.m. daily for weight lifting and leaves school about 5 p.m.

Templin is single and lives in Wichita. "I bought a house this fall and I have two roommates," said Templin. I like Wichita for now; it's a bigger town.

He enjoys fishing, hunting, reading, and sponsors F.C.A.

Templin has been at Southeast for three years.

Lee Streiff, social studies teacher, is a third generation Wichitan. His great-grandfather settled here in 1896.

"His farm was located around what now is Edgemoor and Douglas," said Streiff.

Streiff attended Robinson Junior High and East High Schools. He went to Wichita University and majored in English.

"My field of study was literary criticism," said Streiff.

He then went to the University of Illinois for graduate work.

In 1963 Streiff went to Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. on a grant from the John Hayfellowship Foundation, sponsored by the Ford Foundation.

Streiff was president of Kansas National Education Association (NEA) in 1970-71. "I was the chief negotiator for the teacher contract," said Streiff.

He was president of the Archaeology Association of South Central Kansas in 1974-75 and is currently a member.

Streiff has published a book on teacher negotiations and has also published a variety of articles, ranging on topics from archaeology to education.

He has been the chairman of the Board for the Professional Board of Review, which guards academic freedom.

Streiff enjoys English and Early American folk music; he plays the guitar and sings. He is interested in archaeology, computers, and photography.

Streiff and his wife, Phyllis, have one daughter, Allison, 24.

Streiff has been at SE 25 years and has been head of the Social Studies Department for 8.

STUCO has new ideas

The Student Council, sponsored by Sue Neal, had many new ideas this year. The council met bimonthly to discuss school activities and plan fund raisers.

One of the ideas that was successful was showing a feature length movie during second and third hours, and charging each student $1 for admission. With just this one project STUCO raised $800 of the $2,000 earned for United Way. STUCO also participated in a blood donating campaign for the American Red Cross.

Several other fund raisers were selling Southeast license plates, voo-doo dolls, student telephone directories, homecoming mums, and valentine grams and carnations.

STUCO also devised ways to promote school spirit. It denoted each game day with a different spirit idea such as wearing cowboy hats or neckties. STUCO also flew a spirit flag on special occasions, built a buffalo mascot, replaced a stolen sound system, sponsored Homecoming, Sweetheart, and OSOM dances. The council also constructed a homecoming float for Southeast's 25th anniversary.

Another main goal of the student council was to increase student input toward their governing body. It sponsored a city-wide student council conference to share and learn new ideas, gave an update each second hour after the STUCO meetings, and printed a STUCO Report bimonthly in the Stampede.

Clubs participate in annual banquet

One of the most important events for the foreign language clubs was the Foreign Language Banquet. The banquet, an annual gathering of the foreign language students, was held December 7 in the cafeteria. The dinner was sponsored by the Language Department.

"The purpose of the banquet was mainly to get foreign language students together," said Rose Marie Estill, French teacher.

The dinner was covered dish and each student brought food from the country of the language he was studying.

Many activities followed the meal. Each group performed a skit of some kind. The third year French students acted out American commercials, but translated the dialogue into French. The German Club members danced to German folk music, and the Spanish III students broke the traditional banquet pinata. Each of the clubs also sang Christmas carols in the language it was studying.

Groups have various projects

The International Thespian Society is a world wide organization in which high school theatre is promoted. The Thespian Trouper's main project is the Sarah Awards, in memory of Sarah Attwater, a former SE drama student who was killed in a car accident. The awards honor performances, outstanding drama and stagecraft students and other jobs well done on the productions. The Thespians Troupe also held several fundraisers throughout the year, including a celeberity auction, a garage sale, and the selling of "nasty hankies" at football games.

Quill and Scroll is a group of advanced journalism students who have excelled in high school journalism on the yearbook or newspaper staff. Thirteen new members were initiated into the Southeast chapter during the city-wide ceremony held at the Wichita Art Association in March. The guest speaker for the evening was Steve McIntosh, radio personality of KFH.

The purpose of the National Honor Society is "to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, and promote leadership," said Marvin Huffman, sponsor. Students with a 3.5 grade point average are invited to apply. A screening committee then reviews the application and selects those who qualify, based on leadership, character and scholarship.

Clubs varied

HERO, Home Economic Related Occupations, is a cooperative education class in which the student attends school half a day and works the other half. The class is only open to seniors who study foods, clothing, housing, and adult and child care.

"The purpose of the club is to give students an idea of being in an organized group with related ideas," said club sponsor Collen Haehn.

The OE Club meets twice a month to work on its service projects. The OEA, Office Education Association, endorses the Special Olympics, and the Wichita OE Clubs sponsored fund raisers for this event held each summer at Wichita High School South's Carpenter Stadium. The seven public high schools sponsored a skate-a-thon held at Skate East.

The OE Club also participated in the Spring Leadership Conference, The national conference was held in Nashville, Tenn., and this year's state chair person was Goff. The students prepared speeches and competed in typing, accounting, shorthand, data processing, and filing.

The Young Inspirations is a vocal organization that performs in musical productions outside of school. There were nearly 50 members, and they performed in six concerts last year.

The group was sponsored by counselor Maxine Johnson and Assistant Principal Dr. Jesse Williams. "The purpose of the group is to develop an appreciation for gospel music and a social enhancement. I think belonging to the organization also gives the students an opportunity to express their talents, and it helps develop leadership," Johnson said.

New clubs form

For the first time at Southeast there was a school sponsored bicycle club. The organization, sponsored by math teacher Jack Lamson, was designed "to get students together and go riding," said senior Sheryl Lesage, road captian.

The group met weekly during the lunch hour, then road together on Saturdays. The average ride was about 30 miles.

Members took trips to Arkansas City, Rose Hill, Udall, Tulsa, and Lake Afton. When the group went on overnight trips, it stayed in youth hostels, state parks, and county jails. The club has plans to take a trip from Kansas to California, then Canada and back during the summer vacation.

The Art Club, sponsored by Don Weddle, art teacher, is a group comprised of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, that meets weekly to work on special art projects.

"The purpose of the club is to beautify the school or better the community in terms of art that can't be done in the classroom," said Weddle.

Projects for the year included silk-screening Art Club t-shirts, painting murals for the cafeteria, and raising money to provide more art supplies.

Club activities vary

The Foreign Students Club, sponsored by counselor Ken Clark is an organization designed to acquaint foreign students with American culture, history, education, religion, and recreation. The club was open to foreign as well as American students.

The group took field trips to the Art Museum, the Mid-America All Indian Center, Cowtown, the Historical Museum, and the Belle Plaine Arboretum. The club also went to an ethnic restaurant and celebrated the Christmas holidays with a pot luck dinner, with each student bringing food from a different culture.

The Chess Club, sponsored by James Madden, science teacher, is a group comprised of about 15 members who compete to play in tournaments throughout the city. "Only the top five chess players compete, so the competition runs high," said Tracy Elliott, junior.

Members meet everyday at lunch to play challenge matches to try and progress to the top of the challenge ladder. The top five players, who were all juniors and newcomers were: Tracy Elliott, first; Kevin Doerkson, second; Kurt Chadwell, third; Howard Edwards, fourth; and Jerry McCoy, fifth.

The highlight of the season was the Kansas State High School Chess Championship held in Salina in March.

Publication staffs work extra hours

The Stampede staff, comprised of 11 people, worked to put out a school newspaper bimonthly.

The staff typed copy, stripped headlines, printed pictures, and pasted everything down to take to the Vocational Technical School for printing.

Working on the staff means putting in a lot of extra time. The staff pasted the paper up each Tuesday night before its deadline, and used much out of class time to get the paper finished by the deadlines.

Several members of the Hoofbeats staff attended a three day workshop sponsored by Josten's American Yearbook Company at Bethany College in Lindsborg last August. Classes were taught on how to draw layouts, cut and paste down pictures, write copy, and interview people for stories.

The staff attended classes each day from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Students also attended a few evening classes.

The categories of schools attending were divided into three groups: total paste-up, partial paste-up, and no paste-up. Southeast sends the yearbook company total paste-up. This means that when the yearbook company receives the mounting board from Southeast, all the company has to do is take a picture of it and make a printing plate from the negative. All of the pictures, copy, and headlines are pasted down and look exactly like what the final book will be. Southeast has the only spring delivered high school yearbook in Wichita.

Groups compete

NFL, the National Forensics League, is a group comprised of debate and forensics students. Southeast has the largest number of students in the Wichita area involved in debate. "The purpose of the NFL is to promote greatness in debate and increase competition," said Wayne Avery, sponsor.

The teams attended tournaments seven of the nine months they were in school. This averaged approximately eight tournaments per semester.

Southeast competed in the Western Kansas region, and this NFL division was ranked third in the nation. The Forensics team won its fist state championship.

DECA, Distributive Education Clubs of America, is an organization in conjunction with a credit-earning class. If requirements were met, each student received three academic credits upon graduation.

"DECA is a group whose goals are geared toward retailing and management. Each student has previously had classes in sales and marketing," said Phyllis Courtney, club sponsor.

One of the requirements to be in the class is to be employed. "The students attend an hour and a half of Distributive Education classes, and, if other graduation requirements are met, work in the afternoon or evening," Courtney said.

Throughout the year the club tried to raise money to send any state winners in the DECA competition to the national contest. Some of their profitable fund raisers were selling cheese, producing a coupon booklet in cooperation with the area merchants, and managing the school store before school and during the lunch period.

Choirs compete

The highlight of the vocal music year was the annual Choraleer production of Goldust May 6, 7, and 8. The program featured members of the Choraleers in solo and group acts.

Another event for the choir was the regional contest held at Southeast April 7. The groups that received a one rating in regionals went on to the state contest April 24 in Emporia.

Five students from Southeast were chosen to participate in the State Choir. They were seniors Georgia Dunne, soprano; Jane Farha, alto; Beth Hooper, alto; Anna Merritt, soprano; and junior Curt Smith, bass.

"It is a great honor to be selected for the state choir, as the students will be under the direction of the world renowned Dr. Paul Salumonovich," said Robert Krier, vocal music director. In order to be selected for the choir the students had to first qualify for the district choir. District was held at W.S.U. in December. At the rehearsals for the concert, the students auditioned for state, which was held at Century II Concert Hall February 27.

The Junior Misses are comprised of 22 junior girls who practice every day seventh hour. With the Choraleers the Junior Misses performed in the regional and state contests and attended the ensemble regionals in Derby.

Groups perform with Choraleers

For the second year in a row the sophomore choirs have been divided into two groups: the girls and the boys. Although the choirs met in two separate classes, the girls' first hour and the boys' fifth hour, they performed separately as well as together, including with the choraleers in the winter program "Snow Music."

Each class sent an ensemble to the district contest in Derby, where, if they received a one rating, they went on to the state contest in Emporia.

Musicians perform

One of the most important activities of the year for the marching band was participating in the annual Bandorama. The city-wide event was held at Wichita State University on October 20.

"I feel the Bandorama was one of the highlights of the year and that we were very well represented," said Steve Luttrell instrumental music teacher.

All of the high school marching bands in the Wichita area participated in the event and nearly 2,000 spectators came to watch.

The competition in the orchestra was intense as the group was constantly striving for perfection. "I feel that 99 per cent of the people in the orchestra are extremely dedicated, as most of us either plan on playing in college or making music our career," said Laura Francis, orchestra and band member.

The group played for concerts around the city, and continually prepared for the state competition. Five members of the band and orchestra earned first chair positions in the district contest. From the orchestra were: senior Laura Francis, bassoon; senior Todd Brunner, trumpet; senior Mark Hoelscher, trombone; and junior Bill Langenwalter, tuba. The band member was Kristi Kennedy, junior, clarinet. All of the members were eligible to compete for a spot in the state orchestra or band.

Southeast has the largest orchestra in the city, and for the past six years has received a superior rating, a numeral one in the district and state contests. Out of the 47 members of the group, 25 participate in the Wichita Youth Orchestra program.

At the conclusion of the year, the most outstanding musician in the Marching Band, Stage Band, and Orchestra is awarded.

To conclude the performance a fireworks display was given after the band performances.

Instrumentalists add to program

The members of the Stage Band performed at concerts around the city, at instrumental music clinics, and added instrumental variety to the annual Choraleer production of Goldust. They also performed for several civic groups, such as the Lion's Club and the St. Jude telethon.

"The Pep Band is made up of students who want to play on their own time. It is strictly an extra-curricular activity," said Steve Luttrell, instrumental music teacher. The Pep Band practices after school and performs at pep assemblies, half of the varsity basketball games, and for the pom-pon girls during half time.

Girls' spirit groups get involved

The pom pon squad, sponsored by Doye Ward, and the Banner Girls, sponsored by Maxine Johnson, promoted school spirit during the athletic seasons.

The pom pon squad practiced three times a week throughout the summer and the girls earned physical education credit for practicing every fifth hour during the school year. The squad was comprised of 35 girls who performed dance routines during the half time of varsity football and basketball games.

The Banner Girls mainly supported boys' minor sports, though this year they started boosting a few minor girls sports also. They made banners, took the different athletic teams to lunch, and by their own choice, decided to support the varsity football team at home games by spelling out SOUTHEAST. They also participated in such fund raisers as selling buttons, having a pop bottle rally, and by rocking for ten hours in a rock-a-thon.

Cheerleaders win spirit stick award

All of the members of the five cheerleading squads, varsity, inter-varsity, junior varsity, wrestling, and sophomore, attended a camp sponsored by the National Cheerleading Association at the University of Oklahoma at Norman last June. The cheerleaders learned cheers, chants, stunts, dance routines, and how to promote school spirit.

Each day the squads participated in group competition, performing the cheers they had learned that day. Awards were given each night and several spirit sticks were awarded to those groups who the NCA cheerleaders thought had shown the most spirit and had the best over-all attitude throughout the day. Each morning the spirit stick was returned. The best award for an entire squad was to win a spirit stick the final night, and be able to take it home with them to display in their trophy case. The Southeast cheerleaders won a spirit stick two of the three nights, and won one to bring home with them.

Girls perform with band

The flag team and twirlers performed with the marching band during half time of the varsity football games. Each group practiced fifth hour and frequently after school.

The flag team established itself more as an organization this year by recruiting 14 girls, buying new uniforms and flags, and choreographing routines with the band.

The twirlers added an extra highlight to the half time performances by working with knives and fire as well as batons.

varsity basketball

Toward the end of the season the boys' varsity basketball team stood at 9-5 and were again challenging for city and state honors, said head coach Burt Helmer. Expectations had run high as the season began, for returning were three starters and six experienced players, including all-city mentions seniors Steve Stokes and Grant Phipps. Returning lettermen were seniors Louis Taylor, Stokes, Phipps, Mark Rogers, Jerry Broadnax, and juniors Joe Candate, Darin Vordebruegge, and Scott Carter. Manager letterman was senior Doug Moore.

"A pre-season injury to Robert Johnson decimated a portion of the chemistry, and the Buffs stood 4-3 after seven games," said Helmer.

The winning of five of the next seven games was led by the teamwork of four players averaging double figures for the season, Phipps, Stokes, Broadnax, and Rogers.

"I think our early season difficulties resulted from our inability to handle some success and notoriety," said Helmer. "Last year we snuck up on some teams and moved closer to the top. This year, we started at the top and let some teams slip up on us."

Helmer thanked the support for the team by saying, "We've had outstanding crowds this year, and I think the support will only get better."

The sophomore basketball team was 1-3 midway into the season, winning against South 32-27 and losing to East 34-19, Heights 49-34, and West 42-41.

Coach Pat Gaines said that even with these losses great improvement had been shown since the beginning of the year.

At practices Gaines said the players work on foot quickness drills and the improvement of defense, their strongest point being defense and their weakest, free throws.

There were four sophomore players who played on the junior varsity team: Tim Black, Chuck Poe, Derek Daniels, and Van Williams.

When asked if we could win the City League, Gaines said, "We have good sophomore players and we'll end up with a winning season."

The players were senior Lauretta Schultz, juniors Laurie Rains, Theresa Jacks, Sandye Farmer, Lora Heit, sophomore Angela Adams and Shanda Dunston and freshman Donna Reed, Adrianne Hartup and Jill Hess.

Coach Kinley said, "Some of the backbone of the team is in the young freshmen players."

The girls' junior varsity was 0-6 midway through the season.

Head Coach Dwan Welty said, "Even with these losses, the girls are still energetic, and their attitudes are way up."

Players were juniors Dana White, Theresa Pryor, Kim Brown, Kallie Dowling, Marty Slater, sophomores Christy Calbeck, Shelly Blumberg, Donna Coleman, Shanda Dunston, Robin Gessl, Angela Adams, and freshmen Theresa Howard, Dishawn Adams, and Dessarree Ballinger, Jill Hess.

The boys' baseball team returned seven lettermen, seniors Albert Reyes, Tony Rodriguez, Jeff Allen, Mickey Fox, Todd Straight, Marty Cox and sophomore Robert Doshier.

Coach Jim Deckinger said, "We expect to be in the running for the city championship, and we hope to qualify for State by winning our regionals. North will be our toughest rival, with its returning pitching staff, and East and South will be the second rivals."

In past years the baseball team has qualified for state nine out of ten times, and has more city and state championships than any team in the league over the last 19 years.

"The race for city league will be closer this year with all schools. We're at an advantage this year because of the number of returning lettermen," said coach Marsha Olmsted.

Olmsted said that catcher Schultz and shortstops Heit and Sayre would be experienced players holding key positions itions.

"Defense is our strongest point, and concentrating more on our hitting techniques," said Olmsted.

"The basic purpose of the girls' junior varsity softball team is to train the girls in the basic skills and strategies so they may improve and go on to the varsity team," said coach Marilyn Morris.

The boys' and girls' track teams looked forward to a good season.

Head Coach Floyd Bayer felt the season would be typically good if the Buffs worked to the best of their ability.

"We should be a threat in the City League and the boys and girls should be one of the top three teams in the city, and should have a number of members qualifying for the state meet," said Bayer.

"The early meets of the season should be exploratory meets with the later meets being more serious," Bayer said, adding "Most members should peak at the end of the season for the city and state championships."

For the boys, the strongest events should be the distances because of the many returning lettermen in this area.

"The two-mile relay team should be a strong squad throughout the season and has a good chance to go to state," said Bob Rowan, junior.

Also, the field events should be strong, especially shot put, discus and the high jump with Jon Garland, junior, returning high jumper.

The majority of the girls' track team was made up of newcommers, with a few returning lettermen.

Assistant Coach Tom Sawyer said the girls should be expected to do well in track and field events with seniors Jeannie LeSeur and Veronda Martin, returning in the long jump and shot put, respectively, and Jackie Goodvin returning in the distance events.

Sawyer also said the girls' sprint relay teams should do well.

The girls' varsity volleyball team had one returning letterman, senior Susanna Harris.

Coach Marsha Olmsted said that even though the girls had not won very many of their games, their team and individual effort had improved.

Coach Olmsted added, "Teamwork and the success of the team is very important to the girls. They look to Susanna Harris for leadership and to Jeannine LeSueur as the spark plug, two major roles in any sport."

They practice daily on game preparation. Offense, defense, and the overall game are worked on.

"The girls will go to sub-state against Derby, South, and West, and will hope to go on to state," said Coach Olmsted.

The girls' junior varsity volleyball team had a 3-9 record late in the season. Coach Marilyn Morris said, "The weakest point of our team is the lack of background experience. We need girls who join the team as sophomores and stick to it."

The girls practice daily, working on basic skills, serving, receiving, bumping, setting, spiking, and the playing of scrimmages.

The girls had 16 matches, eight of which were triangular meets. And there is no sub-state or state among the J.V. teams.

"The only reward the girls get is the self-satisfaction they get out of playing," said Coach Morris.

The cross country team had five returning lettermen, senior Mike Howe and juniors Steve Chippeaux, David Moody, Bob Rowan, and Rob Smith.

Toward the end of the season they had taken third in the Manhattan Invitational, first at Echo Hills, second at Hutchinson, and first in the Southeast Invitational.

The team workouts averaged 50-60 miles of running a week, preparing the harriers for each of the meets. The teams are divided for the meets into a Boys' C race for beginning runners, a Boys' B race for junior varsity runners, a Boys' A race for varsity runners, and a girls' race.

"It's very early in the year, but the runners work hard, have good attitudes, and do what they had to do to be winners," said coach Floyd Bayer.

The girls' golf team had four girls, the smallest amount for a city team. They were seniors Gena Hartenstein, Julie Perry, Maj-Beth Rulifson, and Cherie Wenderott.

The original girls' golf schedule was made with all nine high schools, but it had to be revised to fit the five schools that were able to field teams: North, East, Kapaun Mt. Carmel, Northwest, and Southeast.

The girls were 2-2 toward the end of the season, and Hartenstein said the girls had to forfeit two matches because of a shortage of players. She added, "I think we will make it to State if we have a full team at regionals."

Coach Greg Sims said, "It's tough say how well we'll do. With a limi number of returning lettermen, w have a whole new team."

There were eleven boys out for boys' swim team: seniors Todd Br ner, David Palm and David Coff juniors John Syler, Rob Smith, Bry White, Matt Machacek, and Greg Hut ison, and sophomores Chuck Crand Andy Lovan, and James Harrison.

"I was pleased about taking six of our ne swimmers to state. Even though e'll lose Brunner and Palm, hopefully ur success this year will bring more am members," said Sims.

Before State, Sims said the competition would be an individual contest r each of the swimmers, and that the uffs weren't expecting any honors.

"It was a big surprise for us," said ms. "We didn't expect this to happen. was the team's best time ever."

The girls' gymnastics team had five returning gymnasts, senior Kelli Shibley, juniors Dana Eudy, Margaret Jones, and Kim Brosius, and sophomore Wendi Hubbard, who competed as a freshman. Their strongest events were Bars, Beam, Floor and Vaulting.

Toward the end of the season the girls were 3-1, with a second place in the Derby Invitational, and with a chance to take second in city, said Coach Doye Ward. Regional results depended on what regional the girls were assigned and whether or not they went to state as a team.

"The first match for the boys' golf team will be against Kapaun-Mt. Carmel, who will be our toughest competition for the year," predicted John Dawkins, the previous year's coach.

Returning lettermen were seniors Jeff-Schlueter, John Shaw and sophomores Tim Quinn and Harvey Jabara.

Dawkins felt the team would do well as long as it worked hard. He looked to taking second place in city competition, and he said SE had a chance to qualify for 6A competition at State.

"We've gone to state tournaments for the last eight years. We took third place in 1977 and took first in 1978," said Dawkins.

The soccer team had five returnin lettermen, seniors Jay Graham, Eric Labarca, Mike Bell, junior George Lopez and sophomore Jack Geist.

When asked if the SE soccer tea would win the City League Champion ship again, coach Larry Stockton sai "Last year we had the problem of havin to put talented offensive players int unnatural defensive positions. If we ca solidify our defense and continue ou ball control type of game, we should aga bring the championship back to Sout east."

"To have a good soccer player, goo

In two years of City League play, SE as lost only one game. In 1980, SE ook the city championship, and in 1981, as third place in the league.

"Last summer I took the team to an nternational Tournament in St. Louis. gainst 92 teams from 22 states and oreign countries, we took fifth place in ur age division," said Stockton.

The girls' tennis team was made up of six varsity and four junior varsity players. The varsity team included: juniors Jennifer Hull, Gail Faulconer, Gina Barrese, and Alice Wohlgemuth, and sophomores Sangeeta Khicha, and Susie Poe. The junior varsity included senior Tamara Kellerman and juniors Nandita Baxi, Chris Kelly, and Naomi Synstegard. Returning lettermen were: Hull, Barrese, and Wohlgemuth.

Varsity ended with 8-1 in City League play and 9-0 in game score against seven teams in the league. Hull and Khicha won the city doubles championship. In the Regional meet SE took first and second in singles and doubles. In singles, Hull took first and Khicha took second, and in doubles Poe and Faulconer took first and Bareese and Wohlgemuth took second.

All the varsity players qualified for State.

"I feel like we all worked closely as a team, and encouraged each other to put out our best efforts," said junior Gina Barrese.

The boys' tennis team had six returning lettermen: seniors, Scott Dawson, Chris Yoder, Kent Snodgrass, Brad Bates, junior Tim Mahaffy, and sophomore Jeff Yoder.

When asked how he expected the season to turn out, Dawson said, "In City League meets we should do very well because we have more depth in our line-up than other teams in the league. North should be our toughest competition, but we'll win city, there's no doubt in my mind."

B.F. Pringle, boys' and girls' tennis coach for the last three years, said, "Our greatest strength is our singles, and as far as weaknesses. I don't believe Pringle's people have weaknesses. I like to think high of my players."

Last summer seven team members, Dawson, Chris Yoder, Mahaffy, and Jeff Yoder, Jennifer Hull, Gina Barrese, Sangeeta Kicha, played in the Missouri Valley Tournament. Junior tennis players from Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska, and Iowa compete in tournaments and only three people in each age group can qualify from each state and play in the Missouri Valley championships.

Drama production theatrical success

"It showed a simpler way of life. It showed an easier way of living. It was much more empathic than anything we've ever done before," said Tom Frye, drama teacher and director of Thorton Wilder's "Our Town" presented October 29, 30, and 31.

The play, set in the small imaginary town of Grovers Corners, N.H. from 1901 to 1913, depicted the simplicity of life at the time.

The production was unique to any of the SE productions done in recent years because there was no built set and not many props for the actors to use. Having no set challenged the abilities of the actors to persuade the audience to use its imagination. "You don't have to have a set to put on a good show," explained Frye.

Although he believed the production was a theatrical success Frye said the show was a financial failure due to low attendence. The audiences that did see the show, however, seemed to appreciate it, Frye said.

Major characters in "Our Town" were played by seniors Jeff Schlueter, Spencer McCurry, Mark Pulliam, and Brad Bates, and by juniors Jennifer Glimpse, Patty Thompson, and Jeanine Cales. Minor roles were played by members of all three classes.

The major reason Frye staged "Our Town" was that he felt it was a beautifully written show with a message.

It was up to the audience Frye said, to interpret, in a positive or negative sense exactly what that message might be.

Play 'another piece of the puzzle'

"Overall, it was a very good show," said drama teacher Tom Frye of "Bus Stop," held in the little theater in February.

Written by native Kansan William Inge, the play is set in a small diner just outside of Topeka in the early 1950's. Grace's Diner becomes a resting place for a small group of passengers on a bus that becomes stranded because of closed roads in a winter storm. The story tells about the lives of the eight people in the diner and how their attitudes change during the course of one evening.

Ironically, one performance was cancelled twice due to winter snow storms, and the subsequent closing of school.

Even though "Bus Stop" was presented over a longer period of time than other shows, the production was a success, Frye said. He received many compliments on the design of the set, the props, the lighting, and the acting.

Starring in "Bus Stop" were seniors Mickey Dooms, Jeff Schlueter, and Kevin McKelvy, and juniors Beth Sherby, Cindy Dittman, Jennifer Glimpse, Matt Queen, and Mark Hetrick. The set was designed and built by senior David Neville.

" 'Bus Stop' was another piece of the puzzle to make a season of good shows," Frye concluded.

Festivities added to homecoming

Many festivities were added to homecoming during the week and at the game.

During the week class competitions were held for the first time in at least three years. The competitions, which included a Western Day, a M*A*S*H Day, and a Dress-up Day, were won by the seniors, with the faculty placing second. The sophomores were third and the juniors finished in last place.

"I think it is just a beginning as to what Southeast will be able to do in the future," said Homecoming Committee Chairman Brad Beets, senior, in reference to all of the special things Southeast was allowed to do in order to celebrate homecoming.

Another festivity that took place during the week was the second annual bonfire. It was held on the Thursday before the game. The highlight of the evening was the unveiling of the first ever Buffmobile. The car, a Chevrolet station wagon, was decorated with Buff paraphernalia, including an emblem of a buffalo. "It (the car) is a neat way of promoting school spirit," said Beets.

At the pep assembly on Friday, candidate Kurt Kauffman was crowned king after the cheerleaders, Banner Girls, and pom pon girls acted out satirical skits, depicting each of the king and queen candidates.

Before the game a honk parade was also held. Toward the front of the parade, the queen candidates and their escorts were chauffeured in convertible Mustangs provided by a Wichita Mustang Club.

During half time at the game, Georgia Dunne was crowned by last year's queen, Michelle Turner. After the crowning, the queen and her attendents were driven around the field on the homecoming float, dedicated to the 25th anniversary of Southeast.

Sweetheart marks policy change

"It is the first time we have used the new voting policy that STUCO voted on and changed this fall that makes the counting of the votes a lot easier," said Sweetheart Committee Chairman Kady McMaster, junior, in reference to the new voting procedure STUCO voted into use following homecoming.

Under the new system, the nominating committees nominated three candidates for either king or queen. All of the nominees were then put onto the ballot and voted on by the juniors and seniors. The top eight king and queen nominees were declared the candidates. In addition to making the counting of the votes easier, the new system eliminated the duo-nominating process used by the nominating committees in the past.

Another change that had to be made, due to the lack of home games around Valentines Day, was that the crowning ceremonies and dance were held after Valentines Day, instead of on or before as in previous years.

During a pep assembly on Friday, February 26, Grant Phipps was crowned king after the pom pon girls, Banner Girls, and Cheerleaders did the traditional skits, introducing the candidates.

During half time at the game that night, Sherry Sanders was crowned queen and was presented the queen's robe by last year's queen, Angie Miller.

The Sweetheart dance was held at the Mid-America All Indian Center on Saturday, February 27.

The End of the Line

As you come to the end of your book, it is the staff's wish that you think of all those people who have worked so hard to make this book what it is: an accurate reflection of the year at Southeast. We extend our thanks to the following people:

Scott Dawson for all the many hours he spent designing the cover;

Brad Husick, Scott Wilson and Coach Dan Johnson for photography help;

Frank Wright, for his sage advice and Mrs. Libeer, for her ideas, help, and patience.
